Last week's school session was a great success, we owe a "big thank you" to all the parents for your support, and to all the students for your cooperation. It is not easy, but we had a great start, please keep it up. Our special thanks to Dan Lopes who gracefully volunteered for an absent "on-duty" parent and did a great job patrolling the place.

Most classes are getting into Mid-term session so please remind your kids to review what they've learned so far this semester. We have a minor change for "Parent-on-duty" list, please check the Website for the latest update.

See you all Saturday!
