2. NBA game on Dec. 7th (Rockets vs Nets)

There are still time to buy tickets to see Yao Ming, and also the possibility to get a free pre-season tickets between Nets and Rockets. If you would like to buy, please come to our office (240), this Saturday, and bring your check. This would be the last opportunity to buy and give our school a chance to win 4 free pre-season tickets for our branch. You can still order Rockets vs Nets tickets later on, but you will have to do so directly with HXHQ. So act now if you are interested. Please look for Wang Aijun in the office, he will collect your check and registration form.

3. Parent Pick-up after culture class

To avoid chaos after the culture class, starting this week our teachers will keep the students in their respective classrooms until parents come to the classroom to pick them up. Last week, we had kids running around in the building after the class, forcing their parents also running around looking for them. Good exercise it might be, it created certain chaos and unnecessary anxiety that none of us enjoy.

We would like to ask for parents' cooperation to come into the building by 12:30 to pick up your children from the classroom. Thank you!

4. We will not participate the HX School swimming tournament

Due to light response and potential conflict with local YMCA meets, we will not be participating the first-year HX school swimming tournament. However, I will try to find out how the event goes and gauge the interest and opportunity for future involvement. Thanks for those who have expressed interest.

5. The current and all previous issues of our newsletter are available on News Archive menu

Our new webmaster, Linying Ma, has been doing a great job improving our site, and making the content current. You will get all the latest information from our branch and our HQ. Please keep hitting the site.
